FIREMEN INSPECT RESULTS OF FIRE — Fire Chief W. Roy McShaffrey (in white coat) and two fire-fighters look at the ruins caused by this morning's fire at 1262 Morgan Ave. The cause has not been determined McShaffrey said.

VIEWS FIRE-DAMAGED HOME — Mrs. Mildred Vosivick peers through the window of her fire-gutted home at 1262 Morgan Ave. Recently purchased modern furniture was completely destroyed. Mrs. Vosivick and her daughter, Jean, were sleeping when the fire broke out.

Furniture Destroyed In Morning Blaze

Fire of undetermined origin caused a mother and daughter to flee from their home at 1262 Morgan Ave. this morning about 9:45.

The mysterious fire broke out in a utility room on the first floor while the mother, Mrs. Mildred Vosivick, and her daughter, Jean, 22, were sleeping on the second floor.

The dense smoke awakened the daughter who screamed and awakened the mother. Both fled from the smoke-filled home in housecoats.

All of the recently purchased furniture was completely destroyed.

Firemen confined the blaze to the interior of the house and poured multiple streams of water to prevent the fire from reaching a connecting home occupied by Maria and Sophia Hudanyez.

All Equipment on Hand

Because of the many homes surrounding the Vosivick dwelling, firemen had all available equipment on hand as a precautionary measure.

Fire Chief W. Roy McShaffrey said an investigation will be conducted to determine the cause of the blaze.

No estimate of the damage was made. It was learned that the new furniture was not insured.

The fire caused traffic to be slowed down on Schoonmaker Ave. between 12th and 16th streets.

A large crowd of spectators lined Morgan Ave. to watch the fire-fighters in action.

Five to Share In Estate of Dr. S. M. Speers

The widow and four children will share the estate of the late Dr. Stephen M. Speers, of Belle Vernon, who died last Tuesday.

Letters of administration have been granted by the office of John Rider, Fayette County register of wills, to the widow, Minerva Speers.

Dr. Speers practiced dentistry in his early life and in recent years was engaged in the coal, gas and oil business, and farming.

No appraisal of the "sizeable" estate has been made and since there is no will the estate will come under the interstate laws of the state.

Sharing the estate, in addition to the widow, are three daughters and a son, Marlynn S. Didrichsen, Torrance S. Etheridge, Patsy S. Bradley and Stephen M. Speers, Jr.

Grand Jury to Get Case Which Had Been Ignored

A bill ignored by a Washington County Grand Jury will be submitted to a second indicting jury, the District Attorney's office stated yesterday.

The D. A.'s office yesterday drew up a stipulation that the case in which John R. Cassidy, of Charleroi, is charged with larceny would be taken before the August grand jury. The case, involving the alleged theft of $95 by Cassidy, was ignored Friday by the May grand jury.

The stipulation which will probably be submitted to Judge David H. Weiner for his signature came at the behest of the woman whose purse was alleged to have been taken and her counsel, John Costello, Charleroi.

Among other things, Costello said that all the witnesses in the case had not appeared before the May grand jury.

$15,000 Damage at Minnotte Plant

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A three-alarm fire caused $15,000 damage Monday night to a repair shop of the Minnotte Brothers Co., a steel fabricating plant in the city's Hays section.

Fire Chief Stephen Adley, who estimated the damage, said no one was in the plant at the time.

Postal Note

NEW YORK (UP)—Some 200 honey bees succeeded where sleet, snow and gloom of night usually fail. The bees, in transit, broke out of a portable hive and went on a rampage in the basement of the general post office, disrupting mail operations for 15 minutes until felled by a DDT bomb.

Probers Plan to Ask Navy About Charges It Paid Bribery Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Rackets Committee will ask Navy officials whether the taxpayers footed the bill for a $4,200 bribery payoff to Teamster Union leaders, according to Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

McClellan also has threatened contempt action unless a balky Teamster official hands over union records under subpena.

Businessman Earl P. Bettendorf of Texarkana, Tex., testified Monday he paid $175 a week to Scranton, Pa., Teamster Union officials so his non-union trucks could deliver goods under contract with the Navy at an Army Signal Corps depot at Tobyhanna, Pa.

Claims Government Aid

Bettendorf said he made the payments "with the knowledge and consent of the United States government" — and said the government adjusted his contract to pay for the added cost.

Newsmen later asked McClellan if the committee will question Navy officials about the payment.

"It will be gone into," McClellan said.

Rear Adm. R. J. Arnold, chief of the Navy Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, told the United Press today he had no information on the matter but that "we will investigate it promptly and thoroughly."

The committee also gave a brief preview Monday of its forthcoming New York hearings. It demanded that Bernard Adelstein, secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters garbage-hauling local 813 in New York, surrender union records.

States Conditions

Adelstein balked. He told the committee he allowed investigators to examine books in his office and they could continue if a union representative were present.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said it was "impossible" to work that way, with a union account taking notes on everything the investigators found.

Adelstein persisted in refusing to turn over his records, however, and McClellan told reporters if the refusal stands "I will bring it before the committee for appropriate action." He said that could include a contempt citation.

Ike Returns to 'Difficult Days' In Capital Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower played a final round of golf today and prepared to fly back to Washington to face what his staff called "very difficult days" ahead in international relations, particularly the Middle East.

Eisenhower was on the golf course again this morning for one final fling at the fairways before returning to Washington.

The President was scheduled to take off for the nation's capital this afternoon after spending 13 days in the warm sun of Eisenhower's favorite resort, the Augusta National Golf Club.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will meet the President at the Military Air Transport Service terminal in Washington and ride with him to the White House. Dulles then will return to the terminal for a flight to a NATO ministerial council meeting in Bonn, Germany.

An estimate of the foreign situation awaiting the President when he returns to his White House desk came Monday night from his press secretary, James C. Hagerty.

Hagerty, speaking to a Rotary Club district convention here, said that while he was hopeful of an eventual peaceful solution of current problems in the Middle East, "I am sure we are going to have very difficult days ahead."

Strange Objects Streak Across English Channel

LONDON (UP) — A Royal Air Force Radar station spotted an "unidentified object" Monday night streaking over the English Channel so swiftly that two of Britain's fastest jet fighters could not intercept it.

It was the second unexplained sighting in three weeks. A London newspaper suggested the object might be a new type Russian bomber operating in Western skies.

The Air Ministry announced today only that "one of our radar screens" sighted the object traveling due west near St. Margaret's Bay, about 70 miles southeast of London at the bottleneck leading from the North Sea into the English Channel.

"Two Javelin fighters were dispatched from Odiham RAF Base to investigate but did not make contact," the announcement said.

The delta-wing, twin-jet Javelins mentioned are capable of well over 700 miles an hour in level flight.

Tavern Owner Held for Court

The proprietor of Jack's Tavern in Carroll Twp., Giacomo Toretti, last night was charged with unlawful sale of alcoholic and malt beverages to minors at a hearing before Alderman Louis Pergola, of Monongahela.

The alderman ordered Toretti held for court and released him under $500 bond.

Toretti was arrested last week by Washington County detectives as a result of the testimony of two teenage girls involved in a morals case in the county.

The girls testified that they had been served in the tavern.

Guided Missile Exceeds Record

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M. (UP) — A "new and improved" Aerobee-rocket set a new altitude record for a single-stage missile today when it soared aloft "at least" 180 miles.

The Aerobee, carrying special instruments which "could be used in later-stage earth satellites, sped into the upper altitude at speeds between 4,500 and 4,900 miles per hour.

The Navy, which fired the missile at 8:10 a. m. m.s.t. (11:10 a. m. e.d.t.) said radar contact was lost at 180 miles and that the rocket may have climbed "as high as 200 miles."

Berserk Man in Hospital After Flurry with Police

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A berserk man who beat his wife and chased a patrolman with a knife and a hatchet before he was subdued by tear gas was under observation today at St. Francis Hospital.

Frank Kirsch, 34, fell into the arms of officers from a window of his apartment Monday night after he held them at bay for more than an hour.

Police were called to the scene after Kirsch chased his wife, Alice, from their home to the street while brandishing a club and threatening to kill her and himself.

Mrs. Kirsch ran screaming into a tavern below their West End apartment. Larry Stebelsky, tavern owner, scuffled with Kirsch after the enraged man swung a bar stool at him.

Kirsch broke free from Stebelsky, grabbed several bottles and glasses from the bar and fled upstairs to his apartment. When police arrived, he replied to their orders to surrender by hurling the bottles and glasses.

Patrolman John Spozarski broke into the apartment but was chased into a bedroom by Kirsch who wielded a knife and a hatchet. The officer locked himself in the room.

Police reinforcements arrived and hurled tear gas through a window and forced Kirsch to jump from the window ledge. He rolled down an awning and was seized by police who handcuffed him.

Corning's Net Income, Sales Show Decrease

Consolidated net income of Corning Glass Works and subsidiaries for the first quarter of 1957 amounted to $3,872,798 or 57 cents per share of common stock after preferred dividend requirements, the company reported today.

This compares with net earnings of $5,084,540 or 75 cents per share of common stock for the corresponding first quarter in 1956.

Net sales for the first quarter of this year were $35,655,161 compared to $41,158,464 for the first quarter of 1956.

Since the company maintains its books on the basis of a 13-period year, the figures for 1957 cover the period from January 2 to March 24.

1,000 Troops Only Visiting; Can Move More if Necessary

By UNITED PRESS

A force of 1,000 Marines of the U. S. 6th Fleet landed today in Beirut, Lebanon, on shore leave that pointed up American declarations that the United States could put troops into threatened Jordan within a few days if necessary.

United Press Correspondent Larry Collins, with the 6th Fleet, radioed the men had been put ashore as part of the American move to show the fleet in the troubled Middle East. Vice Adm. Charles R. (Cat) Brown said the action was carried out under orders from "higher up."

Marines Paying Visit

The landing was a friendly one—the Marines were merely paying a visit—but they were an important part of the 1,800-man Marine landing force who entered the eastern part of the Mediterranean this week with powerful carriers.

The Marines reached Beirut a few hours after Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said the United States could move troops into Jordan in a "matter of days — not weeks or months."

Lebanon is only a few miles from Jordan, but is separated from Jordan by Syria and Israel.

Brucker, speaking on a television program Monday night, said "emphatically yes" when asked if he thinks President Eisenhower is ready to invoke his Middle East military "shield" doctrine to deter Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Number Not Revealed

He refused to comment on the number of troops that could be moved into the turbulent Middle East in an emergency, but he said "we have enough to meet the emergency."

Jordan today withheld temporarily its answer to a U.S. offer of ten million dollars in aid but rejected Soviet charges the United States is interfering in Jordan's affairs.

It was considered possible King Hussein himself might make known his decision at a news conference he called for later in the day.

In the meantime Jordan indicated it would remain aloof from any call for a four-power Arab "summit" conference with Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia until Hussein has straightened out his own political crisis at home.

Jordan and Saudi Arabia said in a joint communique they would seek to strengthen military cooperation among the four nations in line with decisions of the four-power meeting in Cairo in January.

And Foreign Minister Samir Rifai said Jordan is always prepared to attend another "summit" conference whenever necessary. But he would not say if Hussein would meet Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Syrian President Shukri al Kuwatli. Both Egypt and Syria carried out an intensive propaganda campaign last week to aid Hussein's political enemies.

Jordan was careful not to indicate any open split in the Arab bloc over the Jordan crisis although observers predicted Monday the meeting between King Hussein and Saudi Arabian King

Vote on Horse Race Betting Referendum Delayed Again

HARRISBURG (UP) — The future of the proposal for a statewide referendum on legalizing horse race betting in Pennsylvania appeared today as uncertain as the outcome of next Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

The measure was scheduled to come up for a final decision at Monday's Senate session but action was postponed because of the absence of several senators, including Sen. Israel Stiefel (D-Philadelphia), injured in a crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Whether it goes to a final test today in the Senate hinges on whether the absentees, except Stiefel, are in their seats.

Supporters contend that with a full attendance the referendum proposal would pass the Senate. They claim there are 19 Democratic and seven Republican senators in favor of the measure, without Stiefel, who has not indicated his stand.

Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington), leading the fight to defeat the proposal to have the citizens indicate how it stands on horse racing, attempted at Monday's Senate session to have a final vote taken.

Lane objected when a move was made to pass over the bill.

"This bill has been on the calendar for several days and I think we ought to vote on it," Lane said. It was Lane who moved to prevent any quick action on the measure the week before Easter on the grounds that it required additional study.

Lane withdrew his objection when Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong) suggested that the move would be taking advantage of Stiefel's absence.

In the past it has been customary in the absence of a Senator to have him recorded voting "yes" or "no" if he made known his stand on the question put to the vote. But Sen. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny), another opponent of the bill, served notice that this procedure will not be permitted on the horse racing bill.

"I will object to any senator being recorded unless he is on the floor," Fleming said.

Another bill pertaining to horse racing was returned to committee by the House of Representatives. House leaders said the so-called "omnibus gambling" bill was unconstitutional and would not be reported to the floor again this session.

The legality of the bill was challenged on the basis it violated an article of the basic state code re

16 Workmen at Clairton Works Burned in Blast

CLAIRTON, Pa. (UP)—A gas line exploded and burned at U.S. Steel Corp.'s Clairton Works coke plant today, injuring at least 16 workmen.

The blast occurred at a gas boosting station at about 11 a.m. when a contractor's work crew apparently ruptured the line, a U.S. Steel spokesman said.

Most of the injured were understood to be employes of the contracting firm. A number of the men were treated for burns at the Clairton plant medical station, but others were taken to McKeesport Hospital.

Emergency crews and firemen from McKeesport and Clairton brought the fire under control by noon. The gas line was shut down, closing off gas fuel supplies to U.S. Steel plants throughout the Monongahela Valley, disrupting a number of rolling mill operations.

McKeesport Hospital said five of the victims taken there were in serious condition. They were identified as Charles Bulla, 53, Clairton and East Liverpool, Ohio; Norman Ross, 25, White Oak, Pa.; Patrick O'Brien, 28, North Braddock, Pa.; Jack Kelly, 39, Seward, Pa.; and Homer Johnston, 37, Glenfield Pa.

U.S. Steel said Charles A. Byard, general foreman at the Clairton plant's coal and chemical plant also was reported in serious condition.

Other burn victims included Theodore Wahl, 43, Cincinnati, Ohio; Edmund Denne, 30, Clairton; Paul Klass, New Eagle, Pa.; Patsy Ferrari, 33, McKeesport; and Alphonse James, 28, Pittsburgh.

PUC Orders Gas Utility to Refund Money

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has ordered Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh, to cut its natural gas rates by $360,549 annually and make refunds, with interest, totaling about $550,000.

The order carries out a ruling of the state Superior Court on a rate hike which the utility put into effect Jan. 20, 1955. The firm must make refunds covering the period from that date to next May 20, when the lower charges are to become effective.

The new rates contemplate no changes in the monthly minimum charge of $1.50 for non-heating customers and $2.50 for heating consumers for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas. A saving of slightly more than a half-cent will result in the next six blocks of gas used.

The order marks the second time in the last two months Manufacturers was directed to make rebates. A $400,000 refund was directed March 19. The revisions will affect 230,000 residential, commercial and industrial consumers in 25 counties, most of them in western Pennsylvania.

She Can't Help Being So Tiny

NEWCASTLE, England (UP)—"Stand up when you speak to me," Magistrate T. H. Bates told 25-year-old Mary Cain in court Monday.

"She is standing up," replied the clerk. "She is just four feet tall and that's her trouble. She can't get a job because of her size."

Mary pleaded guilty to stealing a postal order and forging it to get the money.

Another Earthquake

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Another earthquake jolted the San Francisco Bay area Monday night, the sharpest tremor since the big one of March 22.

Texas' Violent Weather Has Claimed 17 Lives

Flooded Section Declared Major Disaster Area

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Flood waters churned down at least 11 major rivers today. Their fury was concentrated on the southern part of Texas and reached into Louisiana.

Texas' violent weather has claimed 17 lives in 11 days. President Eisenhower has declared the huge sector of Texas racked by floods a major disaster area.

Besides the floodwaters, a new flurry of tornadoes that have accompanied the flood - spawning rains, flicked over a wide area of Texas Monday.

Wharton and Bay City, about 45 miles from Houston near the Gulf of Mexico, were in grave danger today from the swollen Colorado River. Major overflowing was expected in the lowlands around the two cities late today.

Levee May Overflow

A levee protects Bay City, but it would overflow at 44 feet. The Colorado was expected to crest there at from 43 to 45 feet today.

President Eisenhower wired Gov. Price Daniel Monday expressing his "deep concern" with the "hardship and suffering" caused by the floods.

Daniel had requested federal aid. The declaration of Texas as a major disaster area will enable the allocation of federal funds to the stricken areas. The President did not mention the amount of money which would be forthcoming.

Damage on the Trinity and Brazos rivers alone has been estimated at fifteen and one-half million dollars by the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Louisiana Also Hit

The Sabine River had parts of Lakeland, La., under eight feet of water Monday and lowlands along the Red River in northeastern Louisiana were flooded.

"Every stream of any consequence from the Pecos to the Louisiana border is flooding, has been flooding, or is bankful," said R. O. Bland of the North Texas Regional Weather Bureau. The Pecos is Texas' westernmost river other than the Rio Grande.

Houston, Texas' largest city, was already under water in sections and feared a wholesale spread of flooding should more rain fall.

San Antonio, where flooding creeks caused evacuation of 200 families, was declared a major disaster area by the Red Cross.

quiring a "oneness of subject." Besides legalizing bingo, lotteries and horse racing, the measure would give the green light to "educational, recreational and cultural activities on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Gov. George M. Leader's much heralded higher education program was introduced in the state Senate, with a prediction by Democratic State Chairman Joseph M. Barr that election of the next governor might hinge on its fate.

"If this program is not enacted," Barr said, "I think in the next gubernatorial campaign if I were a candidate for governor, I would take this issue to the people. And I think I could win on just this one issue."

The bill would create 5,000 college scholarships annually for needy students who would qualify on the basis of competitive examinations. It would also set up a revolving student loan fund and establish junior colleges at points not served by current higher educational facilities.

Leader met with more than 80 county and local school superintendents Monday in an effort to round up support for the program. He said that when the program is in full swing, it would help educate 50,000 students annually.

"Those unwilling to conserve the talents of these deserving young people may well stand indicted for generations to come as reckless wastrels prepared to squander the most precious commodity of the Commonwealth," Leader said.

Saud could lead to a new alignment.

A strong indication that Hussein was moving closer toward the West was seen in the announcement Jordan had accepted ten million dollars in aid from the United States even though it was unwilling to accept — or even discuss — the Eisenhower Doctrine at this time.

Amman dispatches today showed Hussein was waging a hard fight against the leftist elements threatening his throne.

Although martial law is expected to be lifted soon, the government began an intense propaganda campaign against leftist elements accused of touching off recent demonstrations.

Dr. Claudy was not blamed for the riots and was praised by many for his rehabilitation work with prisoners.

Can't Tell Station What to Play—FCC

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government says Elvis Presley has just as much right to be heard on the radio as Rimski-Korsakov.

As far as the law is concerned it all sounds the same to the Federal Communications Commission.

FCC examiner Herbert Sharfman, a confessed long-hair, said the commission can't tell a radio or TV station: "Thou shalt play Beethoven — not bebop."

He said the FCC's job is strictly to determine whether a station is able to serve the "public interest, convenience and necessity."

That, he said, does not include deciding what is "good music."

Sharfman made the ruling Monday in denying a protest from a minority stockholder over the sale of "Washington's good music station" (WGMS and WGMS-FM) to RKO Teleradio Pictures, Inc.

Stockholder Lawrence M. C. Smith of Philadelphia and a number of "good music" lovers argued that under the new owners the "good music station" no longer would play "good music."

Sharfman said he is "personally in favor of good music and the more good music the better."

But he said he would not define "good music" because that would lead to "unnecessary controversy." And he said that wasn't the point anyway.

He said in his decision— still subject to appeal to the full commission—that the FCC ordinarily does not inquire into the "aesthetic attitudes" of radio and TV station applicants.

Nor, he said, does the FCC "sit as an academy to set aesthetic standards for stations."

Finally, he rejected the "foreign relations" aspects of the case.

"Good music" lovers argued that American foreign relations would be injured by sale of the station because it would give ammunition to critics contending Washington is a cultural Sahara.

"The commission has quite enough to worry about without taking into account the possible reaction of foreigners," Sharfman said.

SCIENCE TEACHERS INSPECT FAIR — Science teachers from the Monessen area inspect a Buhl Planetarium exhibit during a tour of the 1957 School Science Fair as guests of Pittsburgh Steel Co. last night. U. S. Warns of NATO Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has informed its European Allies it plans to maintain its present military strength in Germany but only if this constitutes a "fair share" of allied might.

The word to the Allies contains an implicit warning that any drastic cut in European troop strength might cause this country to re-examine its troop commitments on the continent.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may spell out this policy in more detail at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (Nato) council meeting in Bonn, Germany, May 2-4.

Dulles was scheduled to depart for Bonn late today after appearing before a Senate subcommittee to plead for more money for his State Department. Dulles was also expected to hold a last-minute conference with President Eisenhower before the secretary takes off for Europe.

The Bonn meeting of 15 Nato allies will review the smoldering Middle East situation and particularly the Jordan crisis. The Mideast flanks the southern end of the NATO shield and the Atlantic partners are anxious to keep the region out of Communist hands.

Acting on that principle, the United States disclosed Monday it has offered Jordan 10 million dollars in economic aid. Jordan promptly indicated it will accept.

Britain to Cut European Forces

Will Use Tactical Weapons

MOENCHEN-GLADBACH, Germany (UP) — Britain will begin the first 13,000-man economy cutback in her forces in Germany only next autumn, authoritative sources at British Army of the Rhine (BAOR) Headquarters here disclosed today.

But a guided missile regiment already is being trained in Britain in use of America's Corporal surface-to-surface tactical atomic weapon. It will be shipped to Germany as soon as possible, the sources said, to maintain the punching force of Britain's crack Rhine army.

Formation of a second Corporal regiment in Britain this year was announced in London Monday.

Cuts Won't Hurt

The 13,000-man slash is scheduled to be carried out between autumn this year and April, 1958.

The cutback, it was learned, will be carried out in such a manner as to maintain the fighting strength of Britain's Rhine Army unimpaired as far as possible.

The heaviest cuts will be in the army's administrative "tail." Anti-aircraft units also will be sharply slashed on the theory that the Soviets would use atom-loaded rockets themselves rather than planes if war should break out.

Under present plans the United States will supply the initial tactical A-weapons for Britain's Rhine army. But authoritative sources here pointed out that Britain herself is working continuously on these and they hope that British-built A-weapons later will supplement or even take the place of the American Corporal.

Plan Meeting on Machinery Tax

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Board of Commissioners of Allegheny County has invited officials of 22 communities to a meeting May 15 to discuss proposed elimination of the tax on machinery in the county.

Invitations went out Monday to municipal and school officials of boroughs and townships which would be hardest hit by exemption of mill machinery from real estate levies. The meeting will be held in the courthouse here

Legislation to end the tax is pending in Harrisburg. Supporters of the bill say it will improve the county's competitive position for attracting new industries.

Today in Congress—

Budget Battle Is Hotter; Dulles Testifies in Senate

WASHINGTON (UP) — The battle of the budget grew hotter today.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles prepared to go before a Senate appropriations subcommittee to bid for restoration of cuts in his department's budget. The house cut 47 million dollars of his departments 227 million dollar request.

Arthur Larson, director of the U.S. Information Agency, was scheduled to address the National Press Club, calling for restoration of deep cuts in the USIA budget.

At the same time, President Eisenhower headed home from his Georgia vacation to take on-the-spot command of the campaign to protect administration programs from congressional economizers.

He called a White House conference May 9 of GOP and Democratic congressional leaders to discuss foreign aid. His $4,400,000,000 foreign aid program is a prime target of congressional budget cutters.

The administration campaign faced stiff opposition. The congressional economy drive continued to run strong

Other congressional news:

Ambassadors: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee planned to take up two controversial nominations: Scott McLeod, State Department security chief, as ambassador to Ireland and Charles Bohlen, ambassador to Russia, as ambassador to the Philippines.

Civil Rights: Chairman Howard Smith of the House Rules Committee said he "rather thinks" the committee will act next week on the administration's civil rights bill. The Senate Judiciary Committee made the bill its pending business. But it can be laid aside at any time for other legislative matters.

Fame: Informed sources said the virtually certain choices for the Senate's five-man hall of fame are: Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, Robert M. La Follette Sr. and Robert A. Taft

Homestead May Get Stainless Steel Housing

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The borough of Homestead, heart of the steel industry, may become the site of the nation's first stainless steel, low-rent housing project.

C Howard McPeak, executive director of the Allegheny Housing Authority, said Monday he has proposed that a 140-unit, 2-million dollar project planned for the borough be of all-steel construction.

He said Roy M Little, director of the Public Housing Administration in Washington, is "very interested" in the idea.

McPeak said he has conferred with officials of the United States Steel Corporation and they have drawn up cost estimates. He said final plans will be sent to Washington and it is hoped construction could be started by September.

The housing project was approved by the federal government last week.

Pardons Board Probe To Hear Testimony On Conduct Charge

HARRISBURG (UP)—The legislative committee investigating the state Pardons Board returns Wednesday to air the first concrete charge of improper conduct made during the 11 weeks of the inquiry.

Mrs. Ruby Werner Costello, sister of Leo A. Werner, one-time postmaster here and defeated Democratic candidate for mayor of Harrisburg in 1955, has allegedly charged Pardons Board Secretary Frank R. Hean received $50 from her to obtain favorable action from the board on a commutation sought by her husband last December.

Committee Counsel David Kohn revealed the charge Monday during what was scheduled to be the final public hearing of the committee.

Kohn said Mr. Costello was brought to the hearings last week, but the committee recessed before she had an opportunity to testify He said she was to have appeared Monday also, but that, contacted at her home in Philadelphia, she said she was now "afraid to testify in the open."

Called to answer the charges, Hean said, "She's a liar."

Hean said he accepted a $25 fee to investigate Mrs. Costello's interests in the estate of her late father. He said he checked with the Daphin County Register of Wills and reported to her that her interests "were being handled in a fine manner and that she was not being deprived of anything."

Hean said that later Mrs. Costello asked him to obtain an application for commutation of sentence for her husband, James Costello. Hean said he charged her the customary Pardons Board fee of $2.

Costello was convicted in 1934 of armed robbery and sentenced to 10-20 years in prison. In 1942, his minimum sentence was commuted by the board and he was released after serving 8½ years. Last December he asked the board to commute his maximum sentence, which would have released him from parole.

The board turned down the petition for commutation of maximum sentence, which Costello had personally argued before the board in what Hean termed "a faltering, hesitating manner."

In a letter, Hean advised Costello to reapply for commutation next December, and to engage an attorney to argue the case before the board.

Hean said after the board rejected her husband's application, Mrs. Costello telephoned him and said he was "a double-crosser."

Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), committee chairman, said the subpena against Mrs. Costello would be enforced Wednesday and she would appear before the committee that day.

More Regulation Of Union Funds

IT SEEMS fairly likely that Congress will do something to bring the funds of labor [illegible] under closer public regulation President Eisenhower, Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Sen John L McClellan, chairman of the special Senate committee investigating racketeering in the labor movement, have all strongly expressed the need for such legislation

The Senate committee has hardly scratched the surface of its subject, but it has discovered enough mal practice in the Teamsters Union alone to make an irrefutable case for closer regulation For if these things could happen in one large union they could happen in others

What form the proposed regulations should take and the extent of them may require considerable study and discussion. The president, the Secretary and the Senator all agree that union-managed welfare funds should be brought under regulation And Senator McClellan goes further to say that employer-managed funds should also be regulated

The Taft-Hartley Act already requires some disclosures of financial information on the part of unions, and no doubt some consideration should be given as to whether these are sufficient It might be asked whether Dave Beck could have utilized the treasury of the Teamsters Union to the extent he did had the union's finances been more open to the inspection of members and the public.

* * *

A GOOD GUIDE in this legislative field is furnished by the regulations governing the finances and securities of corporations These are designed to spread on the public record, mainly for the protection of stockholders and investors, all the pertinent data about the finances of companies whose stock is for sale to the public These regulations go into the most minute detail in requiring disclosure of information.

Dues-paying members of labor unions are in a sense stockholders in their organizations. The union exists for their benefit, they own it, and its officers are their servants in the same way that corporation officers are the servants of stockholders.

A good test of any proposal concerning the regulation of union funds would be Does it increase control by the members, and does it give the members all the information they need to exercise control intelligently?

It is not going to be easy to write good laws in this field. But that they are necessary can hardly be doubted

Law or Politics?

MONESSEN S City administration is not doing full justice to its responsibilities when it lets its political maneuvers get mixed up with a serious public problem.

We're referring to the action of Chief of Police Kuvinka in assigning to nighttime park beats two patrolmen who happen to be on the political 'outs' with Mayor Parente

Vandalism in our parks has become disgusting and wasteful and something drastic should be done about it No community should allow such wanton lawbreakers to get the upper hand Which is why we have argued in these columns for strenuous measures to stop the destruction

We would like to think Mayor Parente and Chief Kuvinka are as concerned about this problem as they should be But when they select for park-guarding duty two of their political opponents on the police force, it is hard to avoid the impression that they find the emergency quite convenient from a political standpoint

Here is another instance of the undesirability of having the police force mixed up in politics It's often hard to tell whether the main objective is law and order or votes

Whoever happens to be Monessen s next mayor we hope he'll resolve to give us a [illegible] men — period

Merry-Go-Round—

Background Of McLeod Is Recalled

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today begins hearings on whether Scott McLeod the State Department's controversial, likable security officer shall be promoted to be Ambassador to Ireland The debate will hinge on two things

Mr. Pearson

1 Is Ireland being imposed upon merely because Foster Dulles wants to get rid of his security officer? Some Senators believe Ireland is too important and too friendly to be a diplomatic dumping ground Many Irish feel the same way, are too polite to say so

Other senators are sore at the way McLeod and his security office balled up relations with Canada by cooperating with Senator Eastland's committee regarding the Canadian Ambassador who committed suicide in Egypt

In view of the Senate controversy, it might be interesting to go back and see just who Scotty McLeod is and now he got where he is today

When Dulles became Secretary of State, he conceived the bright idea of ending all McCarthy attacks on the State Department by appointing a friend of McCarthy's as security officer Dulles conferred with astute, kindly Sen Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who has served longer than any other Republican and who recommended his own administrative assistant Scott McLeod — a friend of McCarthy's

In Dulles's Hair

Dulles promptly appointed him He saw a chance to curry favor both with McCarthy and the powerful Senator, Bridges, who sat as chairman of the Appropriations Committee

McLeod then proceeded to tear the State Department to pieces He had detectives and private eyes looking under tables and peeking into closets He used State Department security men to move his furniture into his new home He appointed the police chief of Hanover, N H, Andrew Ferguson to a job in Europe to give him a free trip abroad

He condoned an order asking German servants to spy on American officials abroad He complacently watched the book-burning spree of McCarthy's two wandering agents Cohn and Schine His security agents tried to get doctors to violate their sacred oath not to talk about their patients

And when his chief, the Secretary of State appointed Charles Bohlen as Ambassador to Russia McLeod went over his head direct to the White House to protest Bohlen has now returned from Moscow after having done the most outstanding job of any ambassador in history

As part of his purge, McLeod appointed Dimitri Dikanikus, former writer for Time Magazine, to prepare a special report on homosexuality and what it had done to bring about the collapse of other civilizations

Dikanikus found there were fewer perverts in the State Department than in the Army Navy, and Air Force that this had had no effect on the fall of Greece or Rome

McLeod was annoyed by the report, buried it

Blocking Refugees

Scotty then turned himself loose on the question of immigration Eisenhower had announced a policy of admitting 14 000 Iron Curtain escapees and to expedite this policy Dulles appointed Edward Corsi a New York Republican When Corsi proceeded to carry out what he thought were presidential orders he found himself blocked by McLeod McLeod even sent a "shadow" Roy Wade, to watch Corsi on a trip to Europe

Finally Corsi concluded that McLeod was more powerful — in regard to refugees — than the Secretary of State or the President He resigned

About this time a congressional committee found that out of 190 000 refugees authorized for admission only 1 779 were admitted

There are some of the things which make it easy to understand why Mr Dulles wants to get McLeod out of his hair, even at the expense of Ireland He was so anxious that he first offered McLeod the job of Ambassador to New Zealand which Scotty vetoed because New Zealand was too far away Then Dulles offered him the ambassadorship to near-by Honduras which Scotty also vetoed because it was not important Finally the anxious Mr Dulles offered him one of the choicest plums of [illegible] Ireland There he will [illegible] William Howard Taft III [illegible] the late Senator Taft even [illegible] the [illegible] anxious to get sup[illegible] Taft wing of the [illegible]

Does Schweitzer Have Facts?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Dr Albert Schweitzer, the esteemed missionary-doctor and philosopher, who has the moral credentials to address the world on humanitarian matters has exploded a powerful anti-atomic bomb

Mr. Drummond

In a long message to the Nobel Peace Prize Committee in Oslo, subsequently broadcast to some 50 nations Dr Schweitzer in effect appealed to the inhabitants of this earth to insist that their governments forthwith cease atomic-weapons testing whatever the reason whatever the need whatever the purpose

His thesis was that atomic-arms explosions must be stopped at once because 'our own health and that of our descendents is threatened.

Dr Schweitzer's letter will carry tremendous weight

It will carry weight because he is widely cherished as a man, because he has no vested stake in the issue other than what he deems the welfare of mankind, and because he states his opinions with an appearance of great scientific certitude

Fervor Exceeds Proof

If Dr Schweitzer is right, if his warning that radioactive fall-out is menacing the human race, present and future, is based on scientific data — then we shouldn t rest until all testing is stopped

If Dr Schweitzer is not right, if his opinions about the perils of radioactive fall-out are scientifically contradicted at essential points then something should be done to prevent such a good man from misleading the world

Many qualified people are convinced that Dr Schweitzer s moral fervor far exceeds his proof

Most of the scientific evidence accepted by most of the scientists in the United States who have studied the facts supports the conclusion that the present and future health of the human race is not appreciably endangered by the level of atomic-arms testing now going on

A detached authority for this statement is the National Academy of Sciences which, after checking all the data on fall-out, declared, 'Thus far the biological damage from peacetime activities (including the testing of atomic weapons) has been essentially negligible"

Comparisons Given

The Atomic Energy Commission's pre-eminent authority on radio-active fall-out Dr Willard F Libby puts this conclusion in more comprehensible terms He points out that 8 to 40 times more radioactivity comes to one from a wrist watch than comes from radio-active fall out The increased intake of radioactivity which comes from moving from a wooden to a brick house is far greater than from test fall-out Or if you moved from sea level to an altitude of 5,000 feet say Denver, Colo, you get about double the dosage from natural cosmic rays, while the dosage from radioactive fall-out would be no more than the equivalent of moving to an altitude of 300 feet

There are radiation dangers from fall-out just as there are radiation dangers from natural sources and x-rays but Dr Libby says the evidence is overwhelming — to those who are willing to look at it — that fall-out is no peril to the race

But it is entirely possible that Dr Schweitzer s earnest moral pleadings will begin to carry the day unless the A E C does a better job of establishing its case It made a good beginning in Dr Libby s personal letter to Dr Schweitzer

But the Atomic Energy Commission must realize that many question its objectivity on the ground that it has a vested interest in weapons

Should Be Checked

It seems to me the government ought to draft the National Academy, which might well invite scientists from other countries to join its study to update and reappraise its findings of a year ago so that the facts can be attested from a completely unbiased source.

Perhaps atomic testing should come to an end Perhaps a disarmament agreement is in the making in London which will make them no longer necessary Perhaps the U S and Russia are nearing the time when it would be mutually advantageous to stop these tests

All I am saying is, let s not end our atomic tests under the wrong circumstances, at the wrong time for the wrong reasons

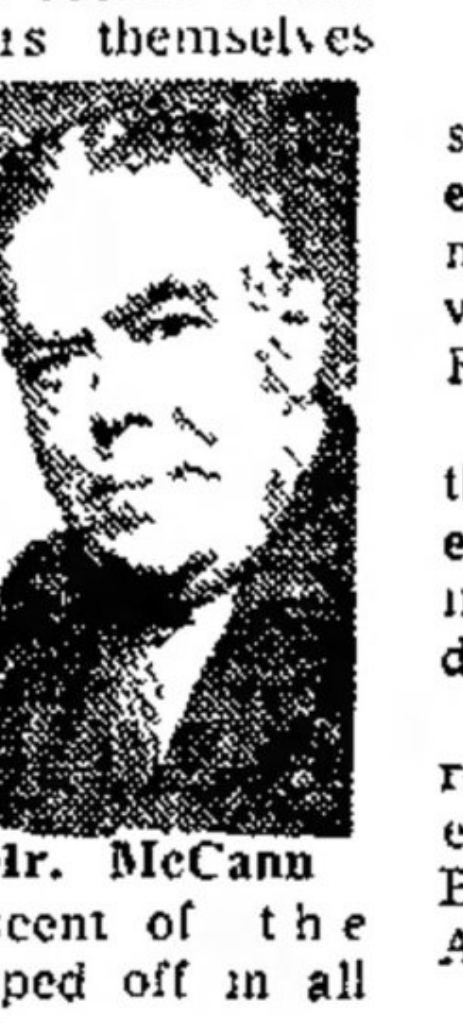
Russians Seem to Want Less Tension

By CHARLES M McCANN

Belief is growing in world capitals that Soviet Russia is seeking better relations with Western Allies

It has appeared in recent weeks that Russian leaders themselves were not quite sure where they were heading



Mr. McCann

They and their propaganda agencies have alternated threats to many Western countries with bids for "peaceful co-existence

The conflicting pronouncements were reminiscent of the horseman who galloped off in all directions

But there are increasing indications that the threats stemmed from anxiety and that a desire for lessened diplomatic tension is the real aim of the Soviet government

Concessions May Come

If this proves correct, the first evidence may come in the form of some important concessions to Allied views in the current United Nations disarmament conference in London

Concessions in the disarmament negotiations certainly would improve the diplomatic atmosphere

It is being suggested the Russian leaders are really aiming at a Big Four Summit Conference in which President Eisenhower would meet Soviet Premier Nikolai A Bulganin, Communist Party Leader Nikita S Khrushchev British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French Premier Guy Mollet

The last Summit Conference" held in Geneva Switzerland in July 1955 gave brief promise of East-West cooperation But when the foreign ministers of the four powers met in Geneva the following November the promise was not materialized The foreign ministers were unable to agree on a single important issue

Want Proof

Since then Allied leaders have shied away from the idea of another meeting of heads of government They believe it would provide merely a sounding board for Russian propaganda

Allied leaders have said that if the Russians want another conference, they must give some proof in advance that they are ready to do business

Belief that the Russians may be ready to do business was strengthened by an 8 000 word letter which Bulganin sent to Macmillan on April 20

Bulganin's letter contained a detailed statement of Russia's views on world issues—the Middle East, disarmament rival military alliances collective security, East-West trade

Friendly Tone

Its tone was most friendly At the end, Bulganin spoke of the great importance" Soviet leaders attach to 'the maintenance of personal contacts with British statesmen"

This was taken as an implied invitation to Macmillan to visit Moscow London dispatches now say there is a chance Macmillan will go

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is to meet British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other North Atlantic treaty foreign ministers in Bonn, the West German capital, on Thursday Macmillan is to visit West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn on May 7

It is possible that as the result of these meetings Macmillan might visit Moscow This could lead if all went well, to a Summit Conference this summer

Nixon Avoiding Stand On 'Modern Republicans'

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — One of the questions now being batted around in Republican circles is How will the scrap over 'modern Republicanism' affect the future of Vice President Richard M Nixon?

Some of his fellow Republicans in Congress depict him as a man treading a path of caution They view him as an administration agent pressing for action on programs which cause no significant rift in the party They also see him as one who is not eager to join the debate over "modern Republicanism'

Mr. Lahr

During more than four years as vice president Nixon has seldom strayed in his public statements from policy line set by President Eisenhower But he has made no major policy speech since last December

It is a safe bet Nixon will do nothing to separate himself from the policies of the administration But some of his friends doubt he is enthusiastic about use of labels like 'modern" and 'up to date which stir resentment among Republican conservatives

They believe the Nixon approach would be to spell out his program on a specific issue and fight for it without suggesting there are two kinds of Republicans dwelling in segregated camps

Nixon has had more friends in the conservative wing of the party than among the liberals who are now closely identified with the administration

On Different Course

While Nixon is expected to keep himself identified with the Eisenhower administration, a different course is indicated for Senate GOP Leader William F Knowland, Nixon's fellow Californian and potential challenger for the 1960 presidential nomination

Knowland seems to be drifting steadily toward a position of opposition to the administration He has been a frequent critic of administration foreign policy whenever he thought the executive branch was taking too soft a line toward international Communism More recently he has thrown more punches at the administration s domestic policy

The Lighter Side—

View of Alps from Air Is Breathtaking

By DOC QUIGG

PARIS (UP)—Dear diary:

An Alp may be a grim and ghastly hunk of ice-covered rock if you're trying to climb it but the view from the air of the Alps just before dusk as you wing over them on the Rome Paris flight is one of the most beautiful this correspondent has seen in some years of travel on all continents, plus assorted seascapes

Our Pan American DC7C nicked the western edge of the Alps shortly before 8 p m and suddenly in a breath-catching terrain change the knife-sharp peaks were jutting up close to us The towering ridges were blanketed in pure white stretching off to either side in solemn march, gleaming in the gathering twilight

Sees Mont Blanc

Now and then in a deep valley clusters of lights mark little towns snug and sleepy To the right looms Mont Blanc (15 781 feet the guidebook says) and in the distance the Matterhorn (14-780)

Not long after the Alps you're coming down onto Le Bourget Airport Paris, where 'Lindbergh did it' 30 years ago next month

And now April in Paris. . . horse chestnuts in blossom . . lunch at Maxim's ($7.00) . . . city of 1 400 000 trees [illegible] tourist bureau [illegible] figure of a blonde from the tourist bureau . . many quaint shops, labeled "snack-bar" .

Touring with Colette . "Behold" she says 'ze banks of ze Seine — lovers people bathing people fishing, people doing nozzing See here ze Bois du Boulogne with many trees — veree pleasant in ze day but at night veree dangerous — 90 per cent of Paris crime is taking place here at night — also much love making, but also dangerous"

Down the Seine and up the Seine on the Borde Fretigny," the boat on which Queen Elizabeth cruised the river on her recent visit Noted only one Yankees go home' sign on the concrete wall facing the river The boat was specially built for VIP s to cruise in (our press group was guest of the tourist bureau, naturally) Still on the back of the top deck was the observation cage in which the Queen rode, it is built of bullet-proof glass

Went to Eiffel Tower Looks as if it were drawn against the sky by Saul Steinberg Went to Louvre Museum Must report the Mona Lisa's eyes do not follow you everywhere you go She looks only toward her left but smiles in all directions

Went to Cafe de la Paix and took a sidewalk cafe table. Had tea (lemon) Sat there an hour and a half Nobody I knew came by not even Mr Roosevelt or John Foster Dulles.

Dorothy Pozum Is Wed to N. Rodgers

United in marriage in a double ring ceremony solemnized on Saturday, April 27, at 9:30 o'clock in the morning were Dorothy Pozum and Negley (Teddy) Rodgers, both of Fairhope.

Their wedding took place in St. Edward R. C. Church of Fayette City with the Rev. Charles F. Ribick hearing the exchange of vows and celebrating the nuptial high mass before a fern and flower decked altar. Dorothea Yelanich, church organist sang the responses to the mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. James Pozum and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Negley Rodgers.

Wears White

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar down a crash lined aisle and the family pews were marked with white satin bows.

For her wedding attire the bride selected a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net worn over taffeta. It was styled with a fitted bodice, Queen Anne collar and long sleeves ending in points at the wrists. The skirt was bouffant in fashion and a crown studded with sequins held her fingertip veil of sheer illusion. She carried a white covered Prayer Book topped with a white orchid

Mrs. Vincent Ambrose, a sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. Her floor length gown was styled of turquoise crystalline styled with a fitted strapless bodice and full skirt. She wore a matching jacket and headband and carried a colonial bouquet of white pompons.

Two Bridesmaids

Lillian Pozum, sister of the bride and Darlene Pozum, a cousin of the bride, of Fairhope, were the bridesmaids They were attired in gowns of turquoise nylon net styled similarly to that worn by the matron of honor. They also wore matching jackets and headbands and carried arrangements of white pompons.

Vincent Ambrose, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served him as best man and the ushers were Jimmie Pozum, brother of the bride and Nelson Rodgers, brother of the bridegroom

Mrs. Pozum chose a navy blue dress trimmed in white with matching duster and accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother also selected a navy blue ensemble with white accessories. Both wore red rosebud corsages.

Breakfast and Reception

Covers were laid for 50 members of the two families and the bridal party for a wedding breakfast at the Pozum home. In the evening there was a reception for relatives and friends at the French Club in Charleroi. There were about 400 guests in attendance from Detroit, Mich., Pittsburgh, Belle Vernon, Fayette City, Charleroi, California, Roscoe and Monessen.

Later in the evening the couple left for a brief wedding trip and for traveling the bride wore a rust colored light weight suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Business Discussion Marks State Federation Session

Local and district clubwomen, who attended the Pennsylvania State Federation of Women's Clubs convention in the Hotel Sheraton last week took part in some controversial sessions during the three days they spent in Philadelphia.

In the closing minutes of the convention a resolution was introduced by Mrs. Wiilliam H. Dutcher, Jr., president of the Abington Civic Club, re-affirming State Federation support for Mrs. Samuel J. McCartney, of Narberth, for the office of the vice president in the 1958 General Federation elections. The resolution was passed with an overwhelming majority though it had been defeated in an earlier session and caused considerable disagreement among the board of directors. The vote to support Mrs. Mrs. McCartney did not include any financial backing.

Raise in Dues

Another of the issues that caused controversy and will have an effect on all local clubwomen was the increase in dues. A resolution was introduced raising the assessment from 65 cents per member to 85 cents The rising operation costs were cited as the reason for such action. After a complete analysis it was decided that the increase would amount to about $13,000 along with money already being received. The delegates voted to increase the dues to 75 cents rather than the proposed 85 cents. Of this amount 10 cents will go to the General Federation and 5 cents to the State Federation.

Legislation Discussed

The convention went on record endorsing various measures of legislature and the women were also given the opportunity for various social activities.

Ozarks Trying to Persuade Pappy

Still without a manager, officials of the Monessen Ozarks are trying to persuade veteran Leon (Pappy) Johnson to handle the team, at least on a temporary basis. Johnson makes no secret of the fact that he wants to be a player, NOT a manager. However the easy-going Pappy hates to say no to anyone. He's hinted that he may take over the job if Shinny Berkley, another veteran, helps out. The Ozarks regular manager, Tony Mascetta, left the past weekend for a job in Scranton. He plans to return home quite often, but not enough to hang on to the Ozark reins. All of which explains the coaxing job now being applied to Pappy.

Big Registration for Little League

Little League baseball officials here report the biggest registration in the history of the city's LL program. No less than 168 boys turned out for last Saturday's tryout session: 85 in the American League and 83 in the National League. These youngsters are in addition to the boys who participated last season and therefore were not required to sign up again . . . Incidentally LL Player Agent John Barton reminds that August 1 is regarded as the birth deadline in the LL. Each team must have at least four 10 year-olds and no more than six 12 year-olds. The remainder on the 15-player roster is made up of boys in the 11 year-old bracket.

On the subject of tryouts, the PONY League had 40 boys registered over the weekend. Unlike the Little League, additional boys will be needed to complete the team rosters . . . Rep. C. O. Here's How to Draw Banquet Crowd

The annual spring banquet of the West Penn Football Officials Association always draws a full house for a pretty simple reason. Members of the group are assessed $5 for the affair whether or not they attend. They almost always do! Representing the district at the event scheduled for this Saturday in Pittsburgh will be Dan (Boots) Salotti, of Monessen, and James O. Leeper, of Rostraver . . . Speaking of officials, the Mon Valley Board of Football Officials will hold its spring organization meeting in the Shadyside Inn near Uniontown on May 25 at 6:30 p. m. At that time, plans for the autumn rules clinic will be formulated. For the first time in 15 years, the late Frank McKoskey, former MHS coach and athletic director, will not be present to take charge of the clinic plans.

Seeks Round-by-Round Scoreboard for Boxing

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Boxing's need for a round-by-round scoreboard will be pointed up again Wednesday night if the Gene Fullmer - Ray Robinson middleweight title bout goes the full 15-round distance.

Millions of people figure to be watching this brawl on television. Yet, unless one or the other lowers the boom, as usual nobody can be quite certain until the decision is announced just who copped the duke.

Which makes boxing the only mystery story in sports.

There is a triple reason why boxing needs a running round-by-round scoreboard: To keep the fans informed, to give the man who is trailing an added incentive and to keep the judges themselves "in line."

The number of "out - of - line" scoring decisions by politically-appointed judges who have to be instructed in how to score when they get the job is appalling.

How About Referee?

"Actually, only the referee should do the scoring," says Ruby Goldstein, who ranks as one of the best all-time "third men."

You can appreciate this when you get it from several sources that some judges actually are "carrying" each other so that they won't seem "out of line" when they differ too far from the scoring of a competent referee in the ring.

"I knew several cases when the judges have signals to keep each other informed of how they are scoring," says one boxing [illegible] "They rub an eye or tug an earlobe or some such. This way they come up with about the same scoring and, if the referee's card differs greatly, it makes the ref look like a bum."

If each official's scoring was shown on an electric scoreboard at the end of each round and left there throughout the fight for all to see certainly it would force the officials to get on the ball and either learn to do the job or bow out.

"I have thought about this for a long time," says Abe J. Greene, former president of the National Boxing Association. "If an electric scoreboard was developed on an intelligent basis I think it certainly would be worth a try."

Affects Fighters Too

Any fighter will tell you that he has lost many fights in which he was "outscored by the officials" or could have come on stronger if he was certain he was losing.

"I've had my share that way," recalls two-ton Tony Galento. "If there was a scoreboard you could pace yourself right at the end or make a better finish. Personally, I always tried to murder the bum I was fightin' all the time, anyhow, but with a scoreboard you wouldn't stand as much chance of gettin' robbed."

In a sport where it is common knowledge that the underworld is looking for every edge, and making most of them, it seems the only thing to do is strip away all the secrecy. Bringing the round by round voting out into the open might or might not help, but it sure would add to the enjoyment of the fans.

Eight Teams Now in Valley League

MHS Tennis Team Wins

Defeats Charleroi, 4 to 1

Monessen High's fine tennis team had no trouble turning back rival Charleroi yesterday, 4-1, at the City Park courts. It was the second straight win for the Monessen boys in Section 4 competition.

The only setback was a default in one of the doubles matches. When darkness closed in on a marathon match, the Monessen boys graciously conceded to the visitors so that everyone could go home and eat.

Joe Kurey, Monessen's top netter, had an easy time in his singles assignment, taking Bill Fiscus, 6-0 and 6-0.

Dennis D'Alessio and Ron D'Angelo also won in straight sets for the Greyhounds. D'Alessio took Joe Kormuth, 6-4 and 6-0, while D'Angelo handled William Poleck, 6-3 and 6-4.

In doubles play, Kurey teamed with Selelyo to beat Fiscus and Kormuth, 6-2 and 6-1.

Real Struggle

The other doubles bout was a real struggle while it lasted. D'Alessio and D'Angelo hooked up with Charleroi's Polleck and Ron Governor. Each side had a game won (6-3 and 7-9) when it was agreed to award Charleroi the match by default because of darkness.

In an exhibition encounter, Bill Troiano and Jack Vandermer of Charleroi defeated Carl Berkovitz and Bill Makinen of Monessen, 6-1, 4-6 and 6-4.

Monessen's next match will take place Thursday at City Park against undefeated California. That attraction will decide the Section 4 lead, at least for the time being.

Yesterday's summary follows:

Monessen 4, Charleroi 1
Kurey, M., defeated Fiscus, C. 6-0 and 6-0.
D'Alessio, M., defeated Kormuth, C 6-4 and 6-0.
D'Angelo, M., defeated Poleck, C, 6-3 and 6-4
Kurey and Selelyo, M. defeated Fiscus, Kormuth, C 6-2 and 6-1
Poleck and Governor, C., defeated by default D'Alessio and D'Angelo, M.

PRA Season to Open Tonight At Washington

The Pittsburgh Racing Association drivers roar into Washington Raceway tonight at 8:30 p. m., with the 1957 racing season already off to a record-breaking start.

The PRA's sportsman drivers drew a record crowd of 10,000 at Heidelberg Sunday afternoon and figure on pulling down another record gate tonight at Arden Downs.

Already a duel between Dick Linder, the '55 PRA champion and Herb Scott, is running hot.

Linder opened his bid to regain the title from Scott by setting a track record in the qualifying run, another in the first heat race and went on to run away from the field in the semi-final and 25-lap feature events.

Scott took his heat race and semi-final but just couldn't keep up with the Woody Brougher-owned racer in the main event.

Nine races are on tap at Washington tonight topped by a 25-lap feature event.

The track, larger than the other quarter-mile tracks on the PRA circuit, should show the bigger PRA motors this season running at their best.

La Bua Scores Win over Miceli

NEW YORK (UP) — Middleweight Jackie LaBua of East Meadow, N.Y., was looking ahead to a possible bout with Peter Mueller of Germany today following another impressive victory at St. Nicholas Arena.

The rugged, sun-tanned Long Island fighter took full advantage of an eight-pound "pull" in the weights Monday night in hammering his way to a unanimous decision over veteran Joe Miceli of New York in their widely - televised fight at the nation's oldest boxing club.

LaBua, who weighed 155 to Miceli's 147, revealed after the bout he has been offered a match with Mueller, the "clown prince" of German boxing, at Cologne in June.

Fullmer, Sugar Ray To Change Strategy

By JACK CUDDY

CHICAGO (UP) — Stocky, muscular Gene Fullmer and slender, explosive Ray Robinson admitted today that their ring strategies in Wednesday night's return middleweight title fight will be much different from those of their January battle.

Thirty-six-year-old Robinson, attempting to win the 160 - pound crown for the fourth time, said, "I fought just the way he wanted me to at Madison Square Garden, but I'll make him fight my way tomorrow night at Chicago Stadium. I won't be stupid this time."

Champion Fullmer, the 25-year-old mining welder from West Jordan, Utah, declared: "If Robinson changes his tactics tomorrow night, I'm ready to change mine too. I've been doing a lot of skull practice, studying the movies of our first bout, and I know just what to do."

Fullmer won the title from Robinson at New York, Jan. 2, on a unanimous 15-round decision after out-smarting and out-fighting veteran Ray. Moreover, Gene scored the only knockdown of the bout against his harder-hitting opponent in the seventh round.

Feinted Craftily

Although Fullmer has the reputation of being a very aggressive mauler, he craftily feinted Robinson into doing most of the leading in January. He slipped under Robinson's left jabs and charged into him with countering onslaughts of ripping blows to body and head. And Sugar Ray, generally off-balanced when the counter-charges came, could only grab and hold.

But Robinson's ring tactics in training this time indicated he will do an about-face Wednesday night and "lay back" until Fullmer is forced to lead. He will try to force Fullmer to lead with his charges instead of countering with them. That will permit the waiting Sugar man to step into the on-coming Gene with smashing left hooks to the head—counter-hooks that Robinson has been sharpening for a kayo.

Sugar Underdog

Robinson, an underdog at 2-1, finished his boxing with three rounds Monday at Johnny Coulon's Gym. Fullmer did his last boxing on Saturday. He weighed only 156 after that session and is trying to build up to about 159½ for the bout. Robinson, who scaled 161 Monday, will have no difficulty paring down to the 160-pound limit, or the January fight, Robinson weighed 160 pounds; Fullmer, 157.

Promoter Jim Norris reported an advance sale of $105,000 indicated an ultimate gross gate of $200,000 and a crowd of 14,000. In addition, the TV - radio receipts are $100,000. The bout will be televised and broadcast nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. e.d.t., with a 150-mile radis blackout of TV in the Chicago area.

Women Turners Third in Tourney At St. Louis

Monessen Turners women's volleyball team finishes third in the national Turners tournament at St. Louis, Mo., over the weekend.

Two city girls — Anne Diaz and Jean Capets — were good enough to make the all-tournament team.

Monessen won three straight matches before bowing to Cleveland, 13-11, in a match called by time.

Previous to that, the city spikers had taken Concordia (Mo.), 15-1, St. Louis B, 15-2; and St. Louis A, 15-5.

The Monessen girls rebounded to clip Chicago, 15-8.

However in the semi-finals, Monessen lost to Cleveland, 15-3 and 15-8.

St. Louis eventually won the tournament by taking Cleveland in the title round.

Members of the Monessen team included Diaz, Capets, Olga Tredici, Jennie Valente, Shirley Shultz, Mary Katsuleris and Mary Matsech.

Bosox, Senators Swap Players

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Boston Red Sox, who had only one left-handed pitcher on their staff, obtained lefty Dean Stone and right-hander Bob Chakales from the Washington Senators Monday in a straight player swap for shortstop Milt Bolling, outfielder Faye Throneberry and pitcher Russ Kemmerer.

Bolling and Throneberry were utility men for Boston last season, but were expected to be regulars with Washington.

Monongahela High spotted Donora seven runs in the first inning, then rallied to win, 10-9, in a Section 17 tussle at Van Voorhis yesterday.

The Dragons pushed over seven runs in a wild first inning which included a round-tripper by Dave Russell.

The Cats came back though. They scored single tallies in the first and second innings.

Then Fred Cox uncorked a grand-slam homer in the fourth inning and Milt Diaz came through with a bases loaded triple in the fifth to account for a pair of four-run innings.

The win was the fourth in six starts by the Wildcats.

Ozarks Practice Tonight Under New Manager

The Monessen Ozarks will practice this evening at Ninth Street Park for their "temporary" manager Leon (Pappy) Johnson.

The veteran Johnson was drafted into managerial services when bossman Tony Mascetta accepted a job in Scranton.

And even though Pappy is the first to acknowledge that he doesn't want to manage the club, he's not wasting any time either. Johnson has already signed up Leroy Stover, who played for Monessen SW last season, and Tom Rotheram, an ex Charleroi and Valley Inn performer.

He's also looking over George Diehl, Jim Smith and Ron Campbell, all touted prospects.

The Ozarks are still open for additional players, reports Johnson. He still has spots on the 1957 roster open.

Tomorrow the Monessen boys are scheduled to meet Yukon in an exhibition game.

California Win Easily in Tennis

California High's fine tennis team easily defeated Monongahela, 5-0, in a Section 4 match yesterday.

The Trojans appear at Monessen on Thursday in a contest which will decide the league lead.

Majors Off to Rip-Snorting Start This Year

By EARL WRIGHT

NEW YORK (UP) — Major league fans and players are in for a rip-snorting season if the rest of the campaign matches the first two weeks.

In some ways, the opening days of the 1957 season resembled a page from the "Roaring '20's." Here are some of the zany antics that enlivened the first two weeks.

—Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs called pitcher Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves "a cheating spitballer."

—President Warren Giles of the National League said Burdette pitched, a "dry" ball.

—Burdette pressed his advantage, asked Tebbetts to apologize to the entire Burdette family. Tebbetts didn't apologize to any Burdettes.

—Don Hoak of Cincinnati fielded a ball hit by one of his teammates to prevent shortstop Johnny Logan of Milwaukee from trying for a double play.

—Four days later, both major leagues adopted a rule to prevent such light-hearted fielding forays by base runners.

Warns Maglie

—Before Sal Maglie threw a ball against the New York Giants, manager Bill Rigney of the Giants warned that Brooklyn batters would go down like ten pins if Sal "dusted off" Willie Mays. Sal had a stiff neck and didn't even pitch.

—The Pittsburgh Pirates hit three straight home runs off Brooklyn's Don Newcombe, the winningest pitcher in the majors last season.

—Chicago Cub pitchers had so much trouble finding the plate in a game against the Redlegs that they set a National League record by giving nine bases on balls in one inning.

Accurate 'Pitches'

—A more accurate but unidentified "pitcher" threw once from the upper stands at Detroit's Briggs Stadium and hit umpire Bill Summers with an empty whiskey bottle. It was a throw Summers—and baseball — could have done without.

This list doesn't include Ted Williams' remarks about the Marine Corps and politicians, which livened up the training season grind. Since the regular season began, Ted has concentrated on hitting baseballs.

Go ahead rhubarbs.

Athletics Receive 'Series' Requests

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—The Kansas City Athletics, obviously bidding for the title of "baseball's most optimistic clb," said today the team's improved play this season already has prompted ticket orders for the 1957 World Series.

A club spokesman said the George Washington Post of the American Legion in Washington, D.C., has been granted an option to purchase two World Series tickets if the Athletics play in the classic.

The A's finished last in the American Leage last season, 45 games behind the pennant-winning New York Yankees.

West Newton, Perry Are Late Entries For 1957 Campaign

It looks like the Mon Valley Baseball League will have eight teams after all this season.

Two late entries apparently got in under the wire last night during the final pre-season meeting of the league at the Monessen Sport Shop.

Loop secretary Chuck Zubritsky said that West Newton and Perryopolis have agreed to post $100 forfeits today. If they do, that will increase the MVL membership to eight for the 1957 campaign.

Already in the fold are the Monessen Ozarks, Charleroi, Van Voorhis, New Eagle, Donora and Fayette City.

West Newton had hinted some time ago of interest in the valley circuit. However it wasn't until last night that the team formally asked for a spot in the upcoming race.

Real Surprise

Perry's decision came as a complete surprise. Earlier club officials had announced intentions to disband in favor of a junior team.

The picture changed on Sunday, though, when an organization offered to back the club in order to keep sandlot baseball in the community.

Despite the new additions, the league plans to begin the 1957 season on Sunday as originally planned. The opener will send Fayette City to Van Voorhis.

Next Monday, Donora will go to Monessen while Charleroi will travel to New Eagle.

Presumably defending champion Perryopolis will play West Newton.

Plan New Schedule

MVL officials will go to work today on a schedule to accommodate eight teams. They had already drawn a six-team card.

At last night's meeting, it was agreed that all batters must wear a protective headgear while at bat.

A spokesman for the New Eagle club also indicated that the team may play its home games at a diamond in Victory Hill.

League commissioner George Kuvinka was in charge of last night's meeting.

Wedges Sweep in Construction Loop

Wedges blanked the Keys and Arches took a pair from the Squares in Construction Bowling League action last night.

Scoring leaders were Chuck Bixsey, 167-422; Frank Stancato 155-446; Dick Neidermeyer, 159-423; Pete Minniti, 183-393.

Standings show Squares, 38-13; Arches, 25-26; Wedges, 20-31, Keys, 19-32.

LINCOLN, R.I. (UP)—Lawrence Adams had a big day at Lincoln Downs Monday when he rode four winners, including Wing Again in the featured Cape Cod purse.

Michelosen Will Headline West Newton Banquet

A flock of sports personalities will feature the annual West Newton High all-sports banquet tonight at the Lutheran parish house beginning at 6:30.

Heading the list will be John Michelosen, head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh.

Also on hand will be Jack Wiley, line coach at Pitt; Darrel Lewis and Vince Scorsone, Pitt footballers; Ted Marchibroda, John Reiger, Lynn Chadnois and Andy Tarasovic, of the Pittsburgh Steelers; and William Dolde, president of the WPIAL.

As usual the affair will be sponsored by the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs of West Newton. Dick L. Moorhead will serve as toastmaster.

Jackets will be presented through the courtesy of the sponsoring clubs.

Making the football presentations will be coach George Bulazo and his assistant Andy Yartin.

The basketball awards will be made by coach Stewart Townsend and his assistant Sherman Brizzi.

These senior lettermen are listed to receive jackets: Raymond Johnston, Andrew Kasic, Benjamin Lash, Barry McCoy, Eugene Letterio, Edward Morrison, Grady Oatneal, William Kraynek, Regis Lyons, Kalman Rieger and Carl Lander.

Charleroi Whips California, 1-0, On One-Hitter

Charleroi High's ambitious Cougars virtually assured the Section 17 title yesterday by blanking California, 5-0 behind a splendid one-hitter by Carl Witmyer.

It was the fifth league win in as many starts for the Magic City nine.

Witmyer allowed only a single to the visitors' Ewing Bell in the fourth inning while striking out an even dozen and walking three. No Trojan got as far as second base.

It was a scoreless game until the fifth, however, when Charleroi exploded for three runs. The Cougars tacked on a pair in the sixth inning to insure things.

Ron Consner and Witmyer each had a pair of safeties for the winners.

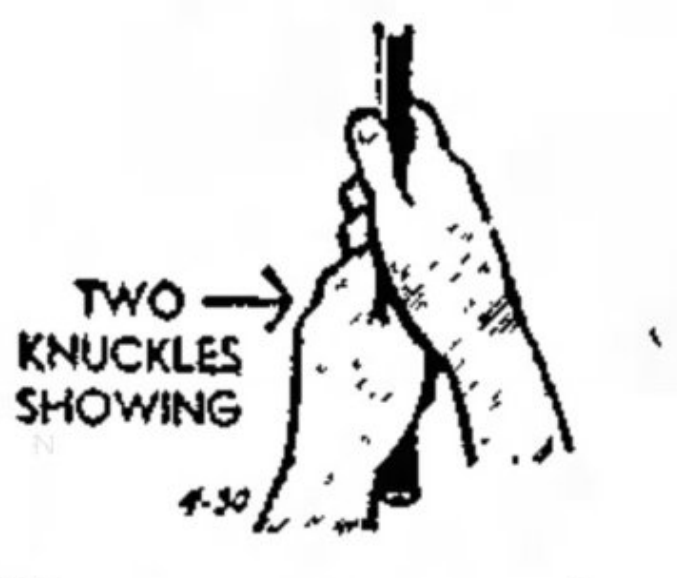
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



Knuckle Position

Ten years ago, the classic grip for straightaway shots was having three knuckles visible on the left hand and one on the right. That was what you were supposed to see looking straight down at your hands from the position of address

In recent years, however, the tendency among the pro's has been to move the left hand position more to the left. That is, looking down from the address position, you should be able to see just two knuckles on the left hand. The "one-knuckle position" for the right hand remains standard.

The reason for the change was that this "three-knuckle position" for the left hand promoted too many quick hooks. What happened was that the left hand, being turned a bit too far to the right to begin with, started turning back to the left too quickly on the downswing. That caused both hands to turn over, shutting the clubface too quickly, and bringing on what is usually called the "turnover hook."

For the deliberate hook, the old-style grip is still tops.

Canes Score Nine Runs in Fourth Inning to Turn Game into Romp

Bellmar exploded for nine runs in the fourth inning to defeat Monessen, 14-6, in a Section 17 game at Fayette City yesterday.

The setback was the fifth straight suffered by the Hounds. Bellmar won its third game in six starts.

No less than 13 errors were written into the record book during the wild-and-wooly contest. Monessen accounted for seven of the miscues.

Jim Bitonti led the winners at bat with a triple, double and single. Fred Mollard, Tom O'Toole and Steve Raymond all had a pair of hits each.

Bellmar used a trio of pitchers to record the win. Bob Beggs started but was relieved in the second by Conrad Lupori who received credit for the win Fred Mollard came on in the fifth.

Open Scoring

The 'Hounds opened the scoring with a pair of runs in the first inning on a couple of errors and Mike Kunsa's double.

Two errors and a single by Rudy Houseman gave the Canes a marker in their half of the first.

In the second, Monessen pushed over two more tallies with just one hit. Dan Barton singled after an error, walk and fielders choice.

Bellmar came back with a run on Bitonti's single, a sacrifice and Bill Sowden's safety.

In the third, Bellmar moved in front with three runs. Lupori and O'Toole both singled. Bitonti sent them home with a triple, then tallied himself on Raymond's safety to make the score, 5-4.

Big Inning

In the fourth, the home team scored nine times. Two errors and a walk loaded the bases in time for Mollard's single, which scored two runs. O'Toole followed with a double to score two more. Bitonti also doubled to chase across another. Raymond doubled in Bitonti. Two more errors and a single by Larry Petras eventually brought the run production for the inning up to nine.

In the sixth, Monessen picked up a pair of consolation runs. Kunsa walked and Dick DiBiaso tripled him home. Tom Churan then singled in Kunsa.

Monessen Turner Gym Star First In AAU Meet

Jack Sterlese, a 25-year-old Monongahelan who represents the Monessen Turners, placed first in three events of the Allegheny Mountain AAU gym meet over the weekend at the Pitt Field House.

Sterlese was also honored as the all-around performer in the meet which attracts about 175 of the district's finest gymnasts.

He was first in the horizontal bars, parallel bars and long bars. He tied for second on the side horse and was third on the steel ring.

Sterlese's feat was truly amazing, according to his coach John (Corky) DeMillion who pointed out that his star pupil has been a gym enthusiast for less than two years.

Another member of the Monessen team, Joe Galayda of Pricedale, finished fourth on the horizontal bars.

Washensky Signs to Meet Brownfield

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Light-heavyweight Ronnie Washensky, former Pittsburgh Golden Gloves champion, meets Mert Brownfield next Monday night in a four-round preliminary to the Wilf Greaves-Johnny Neal about at the Enright Theater.

The bount, announced by Promoter Ben Anolik Monday night, will be Washensky's second pro fight. He won his pro debut against Roosevelt Edmonds.

Brownfield defeated Washensky in an amateur bout at McKeesport two years ago but later lost to him in the 1956 Golden Gloves tournament.

Sporstmen's Corner—

To Replenish State Streams This Week

This week Pennsylvania streams will be replenished with adult bass, walleyes, northern pike, crappies, yellow perch and elvers, according to the State Fish Commission.

The new fish transfers, involving the state's warm water areas, will be in addition to the 60 000 brook, brown and rainbow trout remaining to be planted in the state's trout waters

Hatcheries superintendent Dewey Sorenson said the exact number and amounts of warm water fish to be transferred was not determined.

During its recent meeting, the Fish Commission authorized the transfer of up to 600,000 catfish from the Delaware River to inland waters. A maximum expenditure of $10,000 for the transfer of smallmouth bass and walleyes from Lake Erie was also okayed

The per fish cost to the Commission of the bass has been set at $.50, minimum size — 9 inches and $.75 per walleye, minimum size — 11 inches.

Other Transfers

Other fish transfers described by Sorenson are as follows: White crappies from the Linesville Hatchery on Pymatuning Lake; yellow perch from the Linesville and Pleasant Mount Hatcheries; elvers from the Octoraro River below the Chester Dam and from the Susquehanna below the Conowingo Dam; smelt from Lake Erie and Harvey Lake: largemouth bass from water reservoirs and other sanctuary waters across the northern counties of the state: and northern pike out of Canadohta Lake.

Sorenson refrained from naming the areas that would receive the warm water fishes until a determination is made of the success of the netting operations.

"We can't be sure of the numbers, therefore of the waters to be stocked, at this time." he said. "Adverse water and weather conditions during the periods when these species are concentrated in areas where they can be netted or trapped, could keep their numbers below what we hope to get. On the other hand, given favorable conditions, we should encounter no difficulty in realizing maximum catches."

Below Expectations

According to the Commission's 1956 records, 158,206 catfish were transferred from the Delaware River. Due to storms on Lake Erie during the netting period no walleyes were captured, and only 1,794 smallmouth bass were netted, well below the hoped-for catch.

Sorenson also observed that the in-season trout plantings last year exceeded the current availables by close to 400,000. He added that unless additional revenues are made available to the Commission, there will be no alternative to a further reduction in the number of trout reared for distribution next year possibly 10 percent or more.

Beaver Fights—

In March, while fastening seals to pelts of beavers taken in McKean County, Game Protector Robert Myers was told the following by Arthur Randall, a resident of the area:

Checking his traps one morning in the recent season, Randall found that a beaver in one of his traps had entered a hole under a bank The trapper entered thigh-deep water in order to get a straight pull on the husky fur-bearer.

To drag the beaver from its place, Randall grasped a hind foot. The animal was dislodged, but before it could be dispatched by a blow on the head, it dove and bit its captor on the knee. When it came up and Randall again tried to end the struggle, the beaver dove once more and bit the man on the ankle.

Next time the big fur animal came up for air it was dispatched. Randall later counted 16 holes in his boot, made by the beaver's teeth The man also had several deep bite wounds in his leg.

"But," said the Game Protector, "the skin from the beaver that did the damage was a nice 'blanket' (large-size)."

Game Predator—

Game Protector John Shuler is of the opinion that Ernest Booney, of Millmont, Union County, is another man who thinks that highway vehicles are perhaps our worst game predators.

Booney, he says, travels the highway between Millmont and Lewisburg five days a week. From March 1, 1956 to February 28, 1957, Booney counted 291 pieces of road-killed animals in that 15-mile stretch. The breakdown follows: 134 rabbits; 59 ring-necked pheasants, 1 gray and 2 red squirrels; 38 opossums; 3 skunks; 2 muskrats; 3 woodchucks, 43 cats; and dogs.

Knicks Purchase Trotter Standout

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York Knickerbockers, in another move to rebuild a team which finished fourth in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division last season, today bought Willie Gardner from the Harlem Globetrotters.

The purchase price wasn't announced but the NBA club reportedly gave owner Abe Saperstein of the Globetrotters one of the biggest sums ever paid for a professional basketball player.

Several other NBA teams also had been bidding for Gardner, a six-foot, eight-inch scoring and rebounding star. One of these bids reportedly was for $30,000.

Braves, Chisox Credit Good Pitching for Fast Getaways

By TIM MORIARTY

Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves and skipper Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox both credited good pitching today for their fast getaways in the major league pennant races.

"I don't say we have the greatest but I think we have the deepest pitching staff in the (National) league," Haney conceded as the front-running Braves prepared to open their first eastern trip against the New York Giants tonight.

And as the first-place White Sox stood ready for their initial home stand against their eastern rivals in the American League, Lopez admitted he was "more than satisfied with our pitching."

Four Big Braves

In winning nine of their first 10 games, the Braves have relied almost exclusively on their "big four" pitching staff of Bob Buhl, Warren Spahn, Ray Crone and Lew Burdette. Haney tabbed this planned rotation as "Operation First Two Weeks."

"I told my pitchers that because of rainouts and open dates early in the season, it would be better if we got four men in top shape and concentrated on them, rather than have 10 men ready to go without enough work for all of them," the Milwaukee manager revealed.

Lopez, discussing his pitching staff before today's game against the Baltimore Orioles, said he was pleased with starters Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman and Jim Wilson, who have accounted for six of the White Sox first seven victories. He also put in a plug for relievers Dixie Howell and Paul LaPalme.

Avoiding Overconfidence

Admitting that "everybody likes to get off to a good start," Lopez still didn't allow Chicago's fast getaway to run his professional perspective of the A.L. race, pointing out "we've got too long to go to judge any teams in this league.

However, Casey Stengel, whose Yankees open their western swing against the Detroit Tigers, bluntly confessed, "the White Sox are going to give us the most trouble."

In American League night games, Boston is at Kansas City and Washington at Cleveland. Three other National League night games will find Chicago at Brooklyn, Cincinnati at Philadelphia, and St. Louis at Pittsburgh.

Elmer Riddle Leaves Baseball

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—The Kansas City Athletics have hired Jack Sanford of Birmingham, Ala., to replace Elmer Riddle on their roster of scouts. Riddle is leaving baseball to enter private business.

Musial Leads Cardinals into Forbes Field

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh Pirate baseball fans get their first chance of the season tonight to see a western team and the major leagues' only .500 hitter.

The batting average belongs to Stan Musial, the Donora swatter, who has dumped his usual slow starting role this season and is off to a fast start in a bid for his seventh National League batting title.

The St. Louis Cards are the first western team faced by the Pirates this year. The teams open a two-game series under the lights with Sad Sam Jones (1-0) going for the visitors and Luis Arroyo (0-2), a former Cardinal, pitching for the Pirates.

Manager Bobby Bragan said he will stick with the lineup which beat the Brooklyn Dodgers Sunday. Frank Thomas will play first base and Gene Freese will be on third. Bragan called this his "best" team.

Musial will be playing in his 784th consecutive game. The consecutive game playing record in the league, 822, was set by Gus Suhr of the Pirates from Sept. 11, 1931, through June 4, 1937.

RFC to Pass Away

WASHINGTON (UP)—The fabulous Reconstruction Finance Corp., which lent more than 48 billion dollars in government funds to business during a quarter - century, will pass into history June 30 if President Eisenhower has his way.

The President asked Congress Monday to permit the transfer of remaining RFC functions, assets and liabilities to other government agencies and complete its liquidation. Congress ordered such liquidation four years ago and is not likely to stand in the President's way now.

The passing of the giant agency will mark the end of a spectacular and controversial governmnet lending spree. Some contend it paid off. Some claim it did not.

The once - powerful RFC was created by former President Hoover in 1932 as a prop for ailing banks. In its first year of operation, it lent about $1,500,000,000 but bank failures continued and the depression was unabated.

As time went on the RFC broadened its loans to railroads. And soon the nation pulled out of the economic swamplands.

It was then the RFC became more than just an anti-depression tool. It was converted into a giant government bank ready to lend money to industry for expansion and improvements too big for private banks to finance.

During World War II the RFC technically owned title to a number of temporary war plants built with about 31 billion dollars of government money. After the war the agency lent money for industrial reconversion.

Pilgrimage Director Speaks At St. Edward's Thursday

Public devotions in honor of St. Anne De Beaupre will be held at St. Edward's R. C. Church in Fayette City on Thursday at 7:30, it was announced today.

Here from the famous Quebec shrine will be the Rev. Eugene Lefebvre, who will conduct the devotions.

TO SPEAK AT CHURCH — The Rev. Eugene Lefebvre, of the Quebec shrine, St. Anne De Beaupre, will speak at St. Edward's R. C. Church Thursday evening. He is bringing with him the relic of Saint Anne, shown lower right.

Father Lefebvre is director of pilgrimages at the shrine and is well known to many in this area who have participated in these pilgrimages.

The order of devotions will follow closely those conducted at the shrine during the summer months.

Father Lefebvre will be bringing with him the oldest relic of Saint Anne on the North American continent. It is a particle of bone from the hand of Saint Anne and was given, in 1670, by Bishop de Laval of Quebec.

Cecelia Sukits, Father Lefebvre's tri-state secretary, will bring along her "Little Singing Children of St. Anne" to lead the congregation in singing and take part in the procession.

They will also entertain the Christian Mothers in the basement of the church after the devotion.

Ford Official Looks for Gains

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Ford Motor Co. official said today his company, after reporting 20 per cent higher car and truck sales in the first quarter, looks for further gains later this year.

At the same time Charles R. Beacham, Ford division general sales manager, predicted a continued upswing for all retail lines.

Beacham estimated that before the end of 1957 the average customer would have about 3 per cent more pay to spend on cars and other new purchases.

Catholic School Program

Ceremonies marking the breaking of ground for the Monongahela Valley Catholic High School were to take place this afternoon at 4 p. m., it was announced by the Very Rev. Msgr. John B. McDowell, superintendent of schools for the Pittsburgh Diocese.

The ground will be blessed and broken by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Kushner, pastor of St. Dominic's Parish, Donora, and moderator of the high school campaign. Very Rev. Msgr. Jacob Shinar, secretary to John F. Dearden, Bishop of Pittsburgh, will deliver the principal address.

The site of the ground-breaking is just off Coyle-Curtin Rd., about one-quarter mile south of the junction of routes 837 and 88. The 20 acre plot of church-owned property on which the school will be built is situated in the center of a triangle made up of the towns of Charleroi-Donora and Monongahela and is accessible to all the parishes which the school will service.

$900,000 Raised

Already subscribed to the campaign is $900,000 to help defray the costs of erecting and furnishing the school. With final report meetings for the committees of the 14 participating parishes to be held today and tomorrow it is certain that the grand total will be increased.

The $700,000 minimum goal of the drive was exceeded after only 10 days of general, valley-wide solicitation.

To cost in excess of $1,000,000 and designed by Celli-Flynn, architects and engineers of McKeesport, the school will have accommodations for every Catholic child in the valley wishing to attend.

The school will be co - instructional and will be staffed by teaching sisters from five separate religious communities, as well as lay teachers. An extensive athletic program for the boys and girls will be included in the curriculum.

Children attending Catholic grade schools in the valley have the afternoon off today so they may be on hand for the ceremony.

Results of parishes to date are as follows: for Donora: St. Charles $86,160; St. Dominic — $108,077; Holy Name of B. V. M. — $34,130, and St. Philip Neri — $89,760; Monongahela: Transfiguration — $81,010, and St. Anthony — $92,035; Charleroi: SS. Cyril & Methodius — $64,185, St. Jerome's — $131,010, and Mother of Sorrows — $15,340; St. Luke, Bentleyville — $76,288; St. Clement, Ellsworth and St. Joseph Mission, Cokeburg $44,400; St. Joseph, Roscoe — $28,465; St. Thomas Aquinas, Coal Center, — $12,350; and St. Francis Assisi, Finleyville — $26,340.

Gun Can Fire Round-trip Bullet for Test

WASHINGTON (UP) — Comes now a gun that fires a round-trip bullet to tell how fast the wind is blowing.

Dubbed the "breeze buster," the gun was developed at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., by the Army Signal Corps.

It fires a light-weight pellet almost vertically into the air. The pellet returns by falling back on an aluminum shield almost eight feet square surrounding the firing mechanism.

By checking the gun's angle of tilt with a calibration chart, the Army says, it can tell how fast the wind is blowing.

The Army expects the new weapon to play an important part in determining wind velocity prior to the launching of missiles and rockets.

McCarthy 'Improved'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy was reported "somewhat improved' today in his battle with serious illness at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said the 47-year-old Wisconsin Republican was "seriously ill" with acute hepatitis—an inflammation of the liver.

However, McCarthy's condition was reported "slightly improved" Monday afternoon. And his attractive wife Jean said Monday night after visiting him that he "seemed to feel better" and was resting comfortably.

She said the hospital's commander, Capt. E. C. Kenney, reported he was "quite pleased with the progress" McCarthy is making.

The ex-Marine, entered the nearby Maryland hospital Sunday after an apparently sudden attack. His secretary said he showed no signs of illness last week when he remained to work at his capital office during the Easter recess.

McCarthy's illness took him out of action at the very time the ambassadorial nominations of his old friend, Scott McLeod, and his old foe, Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, came up for consideration in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

McLeod, State Department security chief, was once called McCarthy's "man" in the State Department. His nomination as ambassador to Ireland faes Democratic opposition.

McCarthy in 1953 led the attack on Bohlen's nomination as ambassador to Russia. McLeod aided McCarthy. Bohlen's new nomination as ambassador to the Philippines again faces opposition.

Nation's Capital Varied Place, High School Students Claim

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — The nation's capital, seen through the wide eyes of a high school student making the traditional senior class trip, is a marvelously varied place.

It has the White House, and Glen Echo Amusement Park. It has the Supreme Court, and a Chinese night club.

It is a great place to eat and buy souvenirs and drop water bombs out of hotel windows. It is not much of a place for sleeping. It is hard on the legs, especially when you feel compelled to run all the way to the top of the Washington Monument.

It is a very educational place for a high school senior to visit in the spring—provided you have infinite faith in the proposition that all travel is broadening for young people who have never been away from home without their parents before.

An Exhausting Experience

These observations are based on three days of touring Washington with high school groups from all parts of the country. It was an exhausting experience, but the only way to find out what really goes on during that unique fixture of American education—the senior class pilgrimage to the capital.

Each year about 400,000 boys and girls—one third of all the high school seniors in the country — come here on school-sponsored tours. They come from the Middle West and the Deep South, from New England and the Pacific Coast.

The Annual invasion begins early in March, and by about this time of year hits a rate of about 8,000 a day. The average stay is three days. But it is incredible how much a healthy 18-year-old can see and do in 72 hours if he is willing to go without sleep—as most of them are.

The day's activities typically begin at 6 a.m. with an enormous breakfast. No high school senior, apparently, considers bacon and eggs an adequate breakfast. It usually is bacon - and - ham - and - sausage - and - eggs, with french toast and sweet rolls on the side.

First stop usually is the Bureau of Engraving and Printing where all U.S. paper money is produced. The sight of $10 bills in bales invariably prompts the wag of the group to inquire if the Bureau passes out samples.

"They've been asking me that for 30-years," a sad-faced guide confided to this reporter. "Each one thinks it's original. Some day I'm going to lose my grip and strangle one of them."

From the bureau to the Washington Monument is a five-minute walk that merely whets the teenage appetites for physical exercise. They arrive at the 555-foot monument with but one question in mind.

"First thing they ask," said Joseph Eaglin, supervisor of guides, "is what is the world record for climbing the stairs to the top of the monument. I always tell them it takes the average person about 20 minutes to make it up the 898 steps. Then they're off."

Eaglin estimates that 90 per cent of the boys, and well over half of the girls, scorn the elevator and walk—or run—up the steps. A few collapse from the exertion and have to be revived with the respirator kept handy in the guide room.

By now it's 10 a.m., and the White House is open to tourists. The long line snakes through the west gate and out into the street. It takes about 30 minutes to get into the White House—but only 9½ minutes to pass through the six first floor rooms open to the public.

Fast Congressional Visit

The teen-agers' exposure to the Legislative process is even more fleeting. Tour groups are "run through" the visitors galleries of the House and Senate at such a rapid clip that no one spends more than four or five minutes watching Congress at work.

"Are you kids really learning anything?" I asked one group of well - mannered seniors from a small town in Ohio. They all assured me it was "very educational."

"What specifically do you know about Washington now that you didn't know before you came here?"

After a long awkward silence, one boy volunteered:

"They don't have overhead wires for the trolleys."

Some 100 thousand tons of fish, an average of 26 tons per square mile of lake, are taken annually from the Great Lake of Cambodia in Indo-China.

Trimming of Heifers Hoofs Neglected Job

By UNITED PRESS

A most neglected job of many farmers is trimming heifers hoofs, according to Paul Anderson, a Penn State dairy specialist He says their hoofs should be properly trimmed before they are turned out to pasture.

The specialist points out that heifer's feet grow much faster during the winter because they just don t get much wear in the barn, and since heifers aren't an actual source of income, they're usually one of the first chores to be neglected.

Heifers with long hoofs often become lame, he says, because they carry most of their weight on their heels. This strain, placed on the hock and pastern joints, can be lessened by proper trimming of the hoofs

Details on good hoof trimming can be obtained from your county agent.

Pasturing Cows

Dick Adams, another Penn State extension dairy specialist, warns against turning cows to pasture too early when roughage supplies are low

Adams says "easy does it" should be the rule to follow. Permitting cows to eat forage early will reduce the yield of pasture nutrients And the forage will be extremely high in water.

Adams says cows should be turned out only gradually even when pasture grass has sufficiently grown He suggests turning them out only an hour or two at first, gradually lengthening the grazing time All told, it should take about two weeks.

The "easy does it" technique will help prevent weight losses and help indirectly in maintaining production levels later in the pasture season, according to Adams.

Grass pasture should be at least five or six inches high before turning out cows, Adams said while grass legume mixtures should be 8 to 10 inches tall When you have alfalfa alone, it's best to wait until its at least 10 inches tall.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Vincenzo Vizza, who died six years ago today, April 30, 1951.

Darling father, how we miss you,
No one will ever know,
of the many heartaches and sorrows
As the days come and go.
You left with us a memory
Which clings around your name,
Just how brave and true you were
Until this day you died.
The flowers we place upon your grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love we hold for you, dear father,
Will never fade away.
We love you more and always,
And miss you more each day,
Your name is always mentioned
In many, many a way.
Sadly missed by Children and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear husband, father, and grandfather, Victor Mazur, who died four years ago, April 30, 1953.

Loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by,
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget.
Friends may think we forgot you
When at times we seem to smile,
Little do they know our sorrow
That the smiles hide all the while,
We think of you in silence
No eyes can see us weep
But many silent tears are shed
While others are asleep.
A smile, a tear, a thought sincere
How often we wish that you were here.
Sadly missed by Wife, Children, and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Fuller, who died three years ago today, April 30, 1954.

You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your gentle place
Sadly missed by daughters, Mrs Barbara Koawl and Mrs. Mary Galemeski, son Steve Kuseck and grandchildren

House Will Get Bill Opening State Records

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the House State Government Committee said today legislation to make state and local government records open to inspection will move to the House floor Wednesday.

Rep. Marvin V. Keller (R-Bucks) predicted his committee would incorporate minor amendments drafted by a subcommittee and the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association into the House bill and put it in position for action by the entire House membership.

Rep. Harry W. Price (R-Mifflin), chairman of the subcommittee, said the amendments would exempt records now specifically granted inspection immunity by law. The original bill covered all records of government offices, state boards and commissions and school districts.

Price said the amendment was injected because certain civil service records were closed to the public by law. "However," he said, "we have retained the intent of the legislation."

A second amendment would make the records open at "reasonable times" instead of during regular business hours because some small local agencies have no regular hours during the course of their business.

The bill, strongly endorsed by the publishers' association in a move against "secrecy" in government, would levy a $100 fine against any official convicted of prohibiting or preventing the inspection of records. A companion measure, approved by the Senate and in the House Municipal Corporations Committee would prohibit closed meetings.

The open records legislation was sponsored by Rep. Joseph P. Ujobai (R-Chester) Phoenixville Daily Republican editor; Rep. William K. Knecht (R-Schuylkill) vice president of the publishers' association, and House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean).

Bernadette O'Farrell, who plays "Maid Marian" in the British-made "Robin Hood" series, has dropped out of the CBS-TV show because of a hassle about money ... "Sir Lancelot," another British import, has been unhorsed for next season—"Restless Gun," a saddle soap opera, will replace it on NBC-TV.

The sponsor of "To Tell The Truth" has decided the show is suffering from tired blood.

Lewis Outscores Martin

"Wide Wide World" has received permission to do the first live TV pickup from the Los Alamos area on May 23... Jerry Lewis has the nod for six NBC-TV shows next season; Dean Martin will do two.

CBS-TV has decided to replace "Giant Step' next fall with "I Love Lucy" re-runs.

Life in Hollywood Dep't: Gale Storm has glass walls around her bathrooms... ABC-TV execs are mulling over a new Negro variety series, starring Timmy Rogers.

Patti Page's "The Big Record," a show that has been waiting in the CBS-TV wings for a year, will take over the Arthur Godfrey Wednesday night hour next fall... The sponsor of "The People's Choice", is considering a new "Thin Man" series as its fall replacement.

Texas Rangers Going

"Pantomime Quiz" will pinch hit this summer for "Person To Person" for the umpteenth time ... CBS-TV will bury "Tales Of The Texas Rangers" June 1 and replace it with a kid quiz, "Play Ball," starring Happy Felton.

"Armstrong Circle Theatre," now on NBC-TV, will shift to CBS next semester and alternate with "U.S. Steel Hour" on Wednesday nights... Nan Fabray, married to writer Randy MacDougall last week, is planning a honeymoon in Hawaii.

Man-eating Fish Can't Live Here, Biologist Says

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A Wisconsin congressman's fears that U.S. rivers may someday be frequented by man-eating piranha fish from South America are either the result of mild hysteria or misinformation, a California biologist says.

"It would be like introducing polar bears in Ecuador," Maurice Rakowicz said. "The type of water we have here is completely incompatible to their type of breeding.

Rakowicz was commenting on a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, (D-Wis.), which would prohibit importation of the piranha (pronounced pir-ahn'-yah) into the United States, except for display in aquariums or other places where adequate safeguards have been set up.

So far, no one has been known to import the deadly species for any purpose other than for display, but Reuss said the fish may now be imported without restriction. He added that a piranha recently attacked and devoured a trout its own size in 25 seconds in a San Francisco aquarium experiment, and that a Department of Commerce aquarium worker lost the end of a finger while handling one of the diminutive snappers.

Some Medical Advances In Treating Infections

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Another tranquilizer and drugs designed to treat infectious diarrhea and creeping eruption are among the medical advances I would like to discuss in our regular monthly review of medicine.

Compazine is reported effective in treating mild and moderate mental and emotional disturbances. Tested on more than 12,000 persons, it has been successful in treating anxiety, agitation, confusion, restlessness, senile agitation and post-alcoholic cases.

It also has been used in cases of vomiting and nausea and is reported particularly effective in treating nausea and vomiting of pregnancy. Side effects are said to be kept to a minimum.

Clinical trials in a leading British children's hospital indicate that antibiotic neomycin is effective in treating infantile gastroenteritis.

This disease, also known as infectious diarrhea, summer diarrhea and cholera infantum, causes many deaths in infancy. It is a major medical problem in all institutions where infants are kept. British doctors report that all of the 101 infants treated with neomycin became clinically well in an average of two days.

The drug chloroquine may provide easier treatment for creeping eruption, a parasitic skin disease commonly encountered in the southwest.

Clinical tests indicate the drug can penetrate the epidermis deeply enough to produce good results. Such treatment would have an obvious advantage over standard methods of cauterization or excision of the active lesion, freezing with solid carbon dioxide or ethyl chloride, and other means.

Growth of a tree is not continuous, because of seasonal changes, but occurs only at certain times of the year.
